SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

About the Competition:

Since 1975, the Orchestra has conducted the annual Young Artist Concerto Competition, which draws from the finest musical talent in the State of New Jersey. Open to young musicians ages 14 to 21, the winner of the rigorous audition and evaluation receives a scholarship award, and performs as guest soloist with the Orchestra. Many of the competition winners have gone on to study musical performance at the conservatory level and beyond, and several have become artists in their own right, soloing with major symphony orchestras. Our competition serves as an excellent stepping-stone into the professional music world.

About the Orchestra:

The Livingston Symphony Orchestra is a cohesive group of highly talented, musically trained members from many walks of life whose common goal is to spread the joy of music to all. With roots in Essex County, the group has been delighting audiences since 1956. The Livingston Symphony Orchestra continues to bring together the community of music lovers from far and wide to celebrate the greatest works ever composed. A non-profit organization, the Livingston Symphony Orchestra receives funding solely through the generosity of foundations, grants and the public at large. The Orchestra maintains its mission to promote and keep music alive for generations to come.

About the Music Director:

Anthony LaGruth has been Music Director and Principal Conductor of the Livingston Symphony Orchestra since 2015. Noted by his colleagues for his rapport with audiences, Mr. LaGruth finds innovative ways to bridge the gap between new audiences and classical music. An honors graduate of Ithaca College, Mr. LaGruth earned his bachelor's degree in composition and master's degree in orchestral conducting. He also attended the world-renowned Pierre Monteux School, where he was a conducting fellow under the tutelage of Charles Bruck and Michael Jinbo. Mr. LaGruth has enjoyed a close association with the Pierre Monteux School and has served on the staff of that institution. He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Conductor's Guild, a national service organization for conductors.
